

MARTIAL LAW DECLARED IN CANTON

TOTAL LOSS OF FARM BODY MAY BE 160 MILLION

If Wheat and Cotton Prices Rise Materially Amount Will Be Less

BENEFITS DESCRIBED

Stone Tells About Work Done to Save Farmers of Middle West

Washington—(AP)—On paper, the farm board has lost $177,000,000 of the half billion given it by congress to stabilize prices of wheat and cotton.

Actually, Chairman Stone of the board refuses to concede that this or any similar amount should be written off. The board still has enormous hoards of both commodities. If prices go up high enough the loss might be reduced to the vanishing point.

Still it was the loss figure as of present values that Chairman McNary of the senate agriculture committee wanted and obtained. It was furnished him yesterday as his committee heard demands from the big national farm organizations for the old, oft-vetted remedies of export debenture and equalization fees.

Washington—Out of its revolving fund of a half billion dollars, there is a likelihood that the maximum loss of the farm board may be $160,000,000, though the probabilities are that much less than that figure will be the total cost of saving American agriculture during the last two years from the ill-effects of world depression.

No. This is the way the farm board's operating statement looks today, based on figures submitted to the senate committee on agriculture, but if wheat goes to a dollar and reduced cotton, savings enables the board to dispose of its cotton at prices higher than those which could be obtained at a forced sale today, it would be possible for the board to break even.

Unofficial estimates, however, based on the probabilities of the next two years in wheat and cotton would seem to indicate that if the total loss is cut to $50,000,000, this sum spread over two years would mean that the American people spent approximately $40,000,000 a year to protect a twelve billion dollar industry.

Mr. Stone declines at this time to estimate officially the probable outcome of the board's transactions, because so much depends on future prices, but he has no hesitancy in pointing to the hundreds of millions of dollars above world wheat prices which American farmers obtained through stabilization and the many millions of dollars of depositors' money saved when banks in the middle west were rescued as they were on the brink of disaster.

The farm board regards its operations as of an emergency character because the major part of its stabilization came after the depression, and when the credit was extended as a financial relief measure rather than as a permanent policy.

It is significant that farm board loans have been repaid in large measure. For instance, out of $355,000,000 advanced, there has been repaid about $146,000,000. This is about the way the war finance corporation looked at the height of its operations but in the end its liquidated with a surplus of funds.

If it were not for the storage charges on wheat, the board could sell wheat at 30 cents and come out even, but with a charge of about 15 cents a bushel per month the farm board has been compelled to run up quite a bill in that direction; so it will take dollar wheat to pull out even.

Board's Viewpoint

The storage was forced on the farm board by the agricultural leaders, who insisted that to dump the grain on the general market would depress the price. Hence the board determined to sell at the rate of five million bushels of wheat per month with present prices, but if the price should go up to a dollar, the board would liquidate its holdings more quickly.

As for cotton, the board bought at an average of 15.5 cents. If there should be 10 cent cotton next year, the present loss in cotton held would be materially reduced. But there is nothing to compel the board to sell next year at 10 cents. It can dispose of its holdings gradually as prices rise.

This is the reason why Chairman Stone couldn't predict what the final balance sheet would show, but it is safe to assume that at the rate of repayment of present loans and the probable trend of prices in the next two years, the government of the United States may not lose half the sum unofficially predicted.

Evarts Fight Is Described By Witness

Wounded Man Gives Details of Struggle in Which Four Men Were Killed

Mt. Sterling, Ky.—(AP)—The battle of Evarts, a 30-minute gun fight between miners and deputies last May in which four men were killed and more than 1,000 shots fired, was described on the witness stand last night by E. M. Cox, Harlan county deputy sheriff who was wounded four times in the fray.

The testimony was given in the trial of W. B. Jones, secretary of the Evarts Mine union, who is the first of ten men to face trial here on murder charges in connection with the battle. Jones was described by the commonwealth as the instigator of the alleged ambush of a party of deputies.

Cox told how Deputy Otto Lee, driver of an automobile in which Cox was riding, was shot and killed at the wheel of the car. Then Howard Jones, a mine commissary riding in the back seat with Cox, was slain.

Deputy Sheriff James Daniels, for whose murder Jones is being tried, was shot in the head and killed when he jumped from another automobile and ran toward the assassins, Cox said. Meanwhile Cox was wounded in the head, shoulder, hip and leg.

Asked from what direction the shots came that killed Daniels, Cox said "over where Carl Richmond was." Richmond, a miner, was the fourth man killed in the battle. Cox testified the shooting began after the party of deputies had seen a band of approximately one hundred men, most of them armed, congregated near the Evarts railroad station.

Another witness, John Hickory, testified he drove a truck through Evarts before the shooting and saw the armed men near the station. He identified one of the band as Jones, who he said was carrying a rifle.

Day Is 309th Anniversary of First Day of Thanks in Plymouth Colony

Washington—(AP)—Bidden once more to the festival board of Thanksgiving, America today acknowledged the merces, reviewed the trials of the last year, and turned hopefully to the next.

From the lowliest fireside to the symbolic hearthstone of the White House went forth expressions of cheer or gratitude on this 309th anniversary of the original day of thanks.

Prayers of hopefulness, as well as Thanksgiving, arose from the thousands of pulpits, hearkening again to the year 1621 and the stalwart religion of Governor Bradford's Plymouth colonists.

Crisp and chill as the waning Indian summer; unlocked its long grip in the east to the frosty touch of winter, the day provided a perfect setting for the deed.

Aside from the solemn aspect of the observance of this holiday of America's own, there was the lighter side of pleasure. To the stadiums went hundreds of thousands for football, almost as much a part of Thanksgiving now as the turkey.

Other thousands rested, or poured forth upon the highways for a last glimpse at the fading brown and yellow beauties of autumn.

Hoover Observance

President and Mrs. Hoover led the nation in a typical observance. First there was the religious observance, for which the chief executive and first lady went to the Church of the Covenant on fashionable Connecticut avenue, a Presbyterian church, in a leading service at his own friends' meeting house.

An old fashioned dinner followed, the chief attraction turkey. Six gobblers and 49 bushels of potatoes with which to garnish any or all of them were presented to him during the week.

Members of his cabinet joined in similar home observance. Governmental officials throughout likewise did as the millions of other Americans and either gathered their families about them or joined other relatives and friends in a reunion.

A great gap opened between this Thanksgiving, that first one when the Pilgrim fathers gratefully expressed their thanks for meagre luxuries—and other historic Thanksgiving days. Just 142 years ago to the day and date, Nov. 26, 1789, the first national Thanksgiving in answer to a presidential proclamation was held. George Washington called for it, for a newborn nation.

Less than 80 years later, a reunited nation, nearly half of it struggling through the dark aftermath of Civil war, gave thanks that destruction had been averted. Thirteen years ago was one of America's most joyful Thanksgivings. Barely two weeks before, the great carnage in western Europe had been stopped.

Two States Ask Aid in Caring for Indians

Washington—(AP)—Seeking Federal aid for states having non-taxable Indian lands, North Dakota and Utah officials told a senate subcommittee Wednesday of the cost of Indian to their states in the form of lost taxes and expenses borne by their countries.

Interior department officials repeatedly questioned the witnesses as they testified before a senate Indian affairs subcommittee.

John A. Stormon of Rola, N. D., told of tax losses to Reileite and Benson-coes and of money spent on Indian Indians and in enforcing law on reservations.

NO LIQUOR PERMITS FOR FOOD FLAVORING

Chicago—(AP)—E. C. Yellowley, supervisor of alcohol permits in Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana, has announced he will issue no more permits for the use of liquor in food for flavoring purposes after Dec. 31.

The decision, he said, is based on a ruling late last week by Federal Judge Fitzhugh in the United States district court at Springfield, Ill., that alcoholic liquors could not be used legally for flavoring purposes.

Yellowley said regular flavoring extracts containing alcohol would not be affected by the decision.

BROTHER OF SENATOR DIES IN AUTO CRASH

Milwaukee—(AP)—Funeral services will be held here Saturday for Joseph Polakowski, brother of State Senator Walter Polakowski, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident near Racine late Tuesday. Senator Polakowski returned here yesterday when he learned of his brother's death. The widow, a son Edward, and four brothers survive.

SCHOONER IS RAMMED, SUNK IN HEAVY FOG

Five of Crew Saved After British Steamship Runs Down Fishing Boat

New York—(AP)—The unruly sea that pounds the southernmost tip of Nova Scotia's rock-lined coast echoed today another of the interminable tragedies of the Atlantic—a schooner rammed and sunk, and seven of her crew of twelve lost.

Groping last night through fog that wrapped about her like a huge blindfold, the British steamship Gypsum Prince ran down the 134-ton fishing boat Edith and Eleanor, sinking her at a point ten miles off Baccaro light, about 60 miles south-east of Yarmouth.

Seven men went down with their boat. Those saved, according to wireless messages from Captain Greave of the Gypsum Prince and Captain Simon Theriault of the Edith and Eleanor, were: Capt. Theriault, Engineer Manley Goodrich, Digby, N. S., Paul Pitts, Oscar Thibideau and John Powers.

"The fate of the others," said Capt. Theriault's message to his ship's agent at Gloucester, Mass., is not known.

The Gypsum Prince put out life boats immediately but the Edith and Eleanor—named after the wife and daughter of her master—went down within four minutes of the crash.

Two coast guard craft, the Agassiz and the Antelam, were dispatched at once to the position given by the Gypsum Prince, which was standing by in the hope there might be additional survivors. The collision occurred at 7:27 last night.

The Edith and Eleanor was a week out of its home port, Gloucester. The Gypsum Prince, of 3,915 tons, was enroute to Digby, N. S.

STEVENS POINT MAN WINS $350 DAMAGES

A jury in circuit court at $30 yesterday afternoon returned a verdict of $350 in favor of J. W. Duneagan, Stevens Point, in his suit against John Heenan, town of Grand Chute. Duneagan had asked damages of $1,000.

The jury retired at noon after hearing testimony since Tuesday morning. Judge Edgar W. Werner presided. Duneagan charged that Heenan had cut timber from land he owned in the town of Grand Chute. Originally the suit was started against seven defendants, all from Grand Chute, but the names of the other six men were stricken from complaint on stipulation. The other six were Frank Blazek, Roy Skelley, William and Henry Bauman, Levi and Ed Deml.

Heenan claimed he had purchased the timber rights on the property from Harry Fischer, original owner of the land. He said that later Fischer had transferred title of the land to Duneagan but that he (Heenan) had not known of the transfer.

25 FARMERS ATTEND CONFERENCE ON FEEDS

About 25 farmers attended a meeting at the Greenville town hall yesterday afternoon at which Gus Sell, county agent, discussed feeds and getting the most out of the feed dollar. Mr. Sell distributed copies of a feeding bulletin issued by the state department of agriculture and explained the purpose of the bulletin and how it can be used to reduce feed costs. This was one of a series of meetings which Mr. Sell is holding throughout the county this week and next.

Four Indians Freeze To Death During Blizzard

Gallup, N. M.—(AP)—While men were toiling over snowbanked trails south of here today carrying Thanksgiving food to 1,300 Navajo and Zuni Indians who are being kept in their camps after being trapped by a blizzard on the high mesas of Navajoland.

Four Indians, including one papoose, have frozen to death. This was learned in the settlements last night when a band of horsemen who reached a Zuni village after struggling four hours through miles of deeply drifted snow, returned here.

A family of three Navajos and a lone man died in their camps near Alamo, they said. Fevers were felt for the other families who were on the high mesas gathering pine nuts when the storm enveloped them. They are thought to be huddled in open camps on the barren table-top mountain with only wicker sheds for shelter.

The chief region of distress today seemed to be around Alamo, a village of about 300 persons. Range

Tom Mix Near Crisis In His Battle Against Death

Fights for Life

TOM MIX

Hollywood—(AP)—Tom Mix was nearing today the crisis in the fight his physicians are making to save his life. The actor was semi-conscious and his fate was expected to be known within 24 hours.

Suffering from peritonitis which developed from a ruptured appendix, the actor was given several injections of serum to counteract the infection.

A bulletin issued late last night by his physician read:

"Although the patient had a more restful day, we do not feel that we can report his condition changed."

Previously, it had been officially reported his condition was extremely critical.

"I do not want to appear gloomy about Mr. Mix's condition," said Dr. R. N. Smith, one of the physicians, "but he is in a precarious state and only time can tell."

Dr. Smith revealed several noted medical men in various parts of the country had called him by long distance telephone and given him advice on various methods of treating peritonitis. The calls were unheeded.

Cables and telegrams and special delivery letters from fans and friends from all parts of the world were received by the actor's employees, wishing the film and circus cowboy the best of luck.

A new supply of serum from the laboratories of Stanford university at Palo Alto was brought to Hollywood by airplane yesterday, and the actor was to be given a new injection of the antitoxin today.

NEW TRIAL UPHeld FOR MAL DAUGHERTY

Columbus, O.—(AP)—Granting of a new trial to Mal S. Daugherty, once convicted of misusing the funds of the defunct Ohio State bank at Washington courthouse, of which he was president, was upheld by the state supreme court yesterday.

The supreme court refused to review a decision of the appellate court, which had freed Daugherty on one count of his indictment and reversed his conviction on four others.

Daugherty, a brother of former United States attorney general Harry M. Daugherty, had appealed his case after being sentenced to 10 years imprisonment and fined $5,000. Prosecuting Norman L. McLean of Fayetteville then carried the case to the state supreme court.

McLean said he would decide later as to his next move. He has called a session of the grand jury tomorrow, but declined to say for what purpose.

OHIO SUPREME COURT REFUSES TO REVOKE APPELLATE TRIBUNAL'S ACTION

As a condition between the mayor of New York and the governor of California to arrange details for the hearing, the mayor asked the governor to permit three attorneys for Mooney to speak.

Frank H. Walsh, Mooney lawyer for 13 years, will open the case. Aaron Spence was named to close.

Plans for Hearing

Governor Ralph H. Healy, announcing the arrangement, said there would be no more than one speech by each attorney. Walsh, taking two, would be one on more and Spence about 15 minutes. Walsh explained that would be asked by having Walsh open as the "main" attorney and would make the chronological order more readily than the names, which less familiar with the main outlines.

When Mr. Walsh has brought the case up to date, it will be taken up by Mr. Spence and then by the other attorneys.

The hearing will be completed in 30 days and there will be no session at San Quentin where Mooney is imprisoned during a life sentence.

ASKS REPARATIONS IN STUDENT DEATHS

Families of Mexican Youths Promised $5,000 Each by Oklahoma Chief

Oklahoma City—(AP)—State reparations of $5,000 have been promised the parents of Emilio Cortes Rios and Manuel Garcia Gomez, Mexican students who were shot to death by a deputy sheriff at Ardmore, Okla., last June.

Governor William H. Murray of Oklahoma said in a telephone interview with the Mexico City newspaper Excelsior yesterday that he would "seek the legislature's permission to send these grieving parents $5,000 each as soon as possible."

"I will not wait for an international claims commission to act," he said, referring to instructions sent to the Mexican embassy at Washington demanding Mexico's intention to seek damages.

Following the shooting "extremely unfortunate," Governor Murray said no prejudice was shown by the Ardmore jury which acquitted the deputy, William H. Gores, and his partner, Cecil Craig, on murder charges.

LUPE VELEZ DENIES RUMORS OF ROMANCE

Hollywood, Calif.—(AP)—Lupe Velez, Mexican movie actress, landed here last night after a flight from New York and denied hints of a romance with John Gilbert, the actor.

The rumor arose from their reunion on the same boat from Europe, as rumors usually do when movie people travel on the same boat.

Gilbert arrived from New York two days ago by train. He said: "Lupe is a wonderful girl, but we are just good friends."

He mentioned also that the divorce of his wife, Ina Claire, actress, has not become final yet.

FORMER BANK CASHIER DIES AT ROCHESTER

Manitowish—(AP)—Word has been received here of the death of Gustave A. Nyhagen, 55, former cashier of the First National bank here, who died at Rochester, Minn., yesterday. He was associated in recent years with the Rogers Vesper company at Two Rivers. His widow and two sons survive.

TWO ATTEMPTS TO ROB MOTORISTS ARE FOILED

Racine—(AP)—A would-be robber attempted his intended victim today a "light" take on the five mile road near here last night, but was foiled by the police.

When the robber, wearing a mask and carrying a gun, stopped a car and attempted to rob the driver and passenger, the driver, who was armed, fought back and the robber fled.

The police are looking for the robber, who is described as being about 30 years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall, and weighing about 150 pounds.

FAVORS CIRCULATION OF SILVER DOLLARS

Washington—(AP)—Representative Eustace of Colorado claims people should carry more of those big silver dollars in their pockets and fewer greenbacks.

Hardly anybody owns any of this side of Dea Moines, he said today, and this is one reason why silver is in the dumps. Treasury figures which show there is $11.29 in circulation for each American, also disclose there is only 27 cents worth of silver dollar available for every person.

Eaton favors a law to prohibit the issuance of silver-colored dollar bills for six months or a year, so as to get the coins to jangling in people's pockets again. It will help, he argues, not only silver but all business.

CIVIL WAR IS THREATENED AS LEADERS SPLIT

Gen. Yung Chen Says He Will Guard Chinchow to Utmost Limit

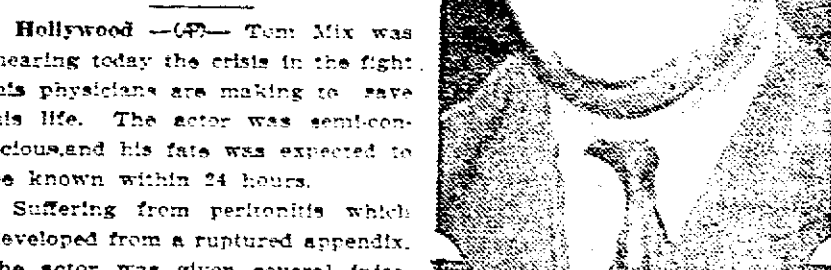

Canton, China—(AP)—Admiral Chen Chak, commander-in-chief of the Chinese navy, declared martial law here today following a split in the leadership of the Cantonese South China government over an alliance with Nanking, and there were rumors that the split might lead to civil war.

The dissension here began with the Cantonese navy's declaration of independence from the Kuomintang congress of plenipotentiaries at a conference of plenipotentiaries of the Canton and Nanking governments at Shanghai, which means were sought to bring together the two warring factions for a united administration.

The Kuomintang congress here, which was sworn on simultaneously with one at Nanking, repudiated the agreements made by the Canton plenipotentiaries and the delegates, including such internationally known leaders as Eugene Chen and Sun Fo, voted, going to Nanking, where they now are.

The reins of power here now are in the hands of those opposed to Nanking.

Admiral Chen is one of those who continues to favor reconciliation with Nanking.

New York Mayor to Be One of Three Lawyers to Appear for Prisoner

San Francisco—(AP)—James J. Walker, "papa natty" state comptroller for Tom Mooney, convicted as bomber of the San Francisco Preparedness day parade here 15 years ago, will know a lot about an involved case when Gov. James Rolph opens a pardon application hearing for Mooney at 10 o'clock a. m. next Tuesday.

The mayor of New York has spent much time studying the record since his arrival in California last Tuesday and he expects to devote many additional hours to it over the week-end.

"Have you gone through the record?" he was asked.

"I'm not sure, but I'm through it," was the reply.

As a condition between the mayor of New York and the governor of California to arrange details for the hearing, the mayor asked the governor to permit three attorneys for Mooney to speak.

Frank H. Walsh, Mooney lawyer for 13 years, will open the case. Aaron Spence was named to close.

KING OF HOBOES TO ADDICATE THRONE FOR CANADIAN GIRL

Crookston, Minn.—(AP)—The king of American hoboes will abdicate his throne and all honors of a Canadian hobo.

His abdication is more than that of Joseph Louis, the boxing champion, who for four years has ruled with an iron fist over the hobo world.

The hobo king, who is a member of the United States of America, has decided to abdicate his throne for the purpose of marrying a Canadian girl, the daughter of a hobo.

"I have a beautiful girl in mind," he said, "and I want to marry her."

Police department at the convention will be demoralized, King Lazarus asserted in answer to Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago, who warned a "hob" reception awaited hoboes.

"Mayor Cermak, please hoboes in the same category as huns and tramps," the hobo king said. "They are not. A hobo, in order to be a member of the hoboes union, must be an American citizen. As citizens we demand police protection at the Chicago convention and ask that the Chicago convention ask that the Mayor Cermak demand a sign of officers to see that no one disturbs us instead of running hoboes out of town."

LEAGUE ASKS EVACUATION

Paris—(AP)—Negotiations for a settlement of the Manchurian conflict appeared today to be moving toward success with the approval of the United States behind the council's resolution asking the Japanese to evacuate the territory as soon as security conditions permit.

The approval of the American government was announced yesterday by Ambassador Charles G. Dawes.

The agreement of the United States and the twelve neutral members of the council means that China's request for a fixed time limit for the troop withdrawals is likely to be granted and it indicates an accord with the Japanese contention that such a time limit is not practicable.

It was learned, however, that Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese spokesman, probably will continue to insist on the time limit, although Dr. Sze himself, asked whether he might modify his demands in the face of the American endorsement of the resolution, answered dejectedly: "I don't know."

Navy League Declares Its Principal Charges Are Not Refuted

MAKES REPLY TO FINDINGS OF QUIZ BODY

Hits Hoover's "Unconstructive Record" in Naval Building Activity

Washington, (P)—The navy league, returning to the assault on President Hoover's policy, now maintains the principal charges of its renowned "abysmal ignorance" statement stand unrefuted.

A new broadside by the league, issued last yesterday, flung back answers of the presidential committee which found it guilty of "inaccuracies, false assertions and erroneous conclusions."

It went further, devoting six pages of close print to a review of what it termed "Mr. Hoover's unconstructive record as to naval building since he has been president."

The statement was in the form of a 17-page letter addressed by Walter Bruce Howe, chairman of the board, to the directors of the Navy League. It promised a later "full rejoinder" to the committee which "untruths and distortions of fact" he found in the original league attack.

This was issued by William Howard Gardiner, president of the organization. Gardiner, supported by a vote of confidence from his executive committee, has not made the apology which Mr. Hoover said he would expect.

Five specific untruths are ascribed in the new pamphlet to the report of the Hoover committee. Contrary to this report, said Howe, the United States is not now engaged in more naval building than any other power, its own figures show that France is way ahead; Japan did not agree to reduce its auxiliary fleet to a 7 to 10 ratio with the United States under the London treaty; the tables published in the Gardner pamphlet were not obsolete as charged (a long defense of this point was made); the Japanese auxiliary fleet (cruisers, destroyers, etc.) was not bigger than the American at the time of the London conference; and finally, the league did not give Japan's ratio as 13 to 1, as the report stated, but as the figure given for Great Britain.

It contested also the assertion that the present naval holiday would maintain the "status quo" in the world fleets, advancing the argument that the "new approach of obsolescence for America's older ships must be rejected."

Howe said President Hoover in three years of office "has not inaugurated a single move to provide replacements—not to mention up-building in categories where we are below treaty levels."

All the construction under way now, he said, was inherited from previous administrations. When the president last winter permitted the navy to present to congress a $91,000,000 building program, he "exercised no vigorous efforts in its behalf" and allowed it to die.

His record, therefore, contended the league chairman, does not accord with established naval policy, nor with the Republican platform upon which he was elected. Howe assailed the president's Navy day statement that the fleet now is adequate for defense of the country, seeing in this evidence that Mr. Hoover does not intend to build up toward the London treaty total giving parity with Great Britain.

9 DEAD, 14 WOUNDED AS COPS FIRE ON JOBLESS

Prague, Czechoslovakia—(P)—Nine persons were killed and 14 others, six of them women, were wounded Wednesday when police fired on a thousand unemployed gathering for a march to the city hall at Fridevaldau. Two of the wounded were expected to die. Police said one of their number had been attacked whereupon an officer gave the command to fire.

The incident was brought up for discussion in parliament and when Minister of the Interior Starobinsky arose to defend the action of the police, Communist deputies rushed the platform and pulled him down. The session was suspended.

MAYOR COMMENDS COUNTY BOARD FOR CUT IN 1932 TAX

Commenting on the county levy, which is $116,000 less than last year, Mayor John Goodland, Jr., said Wednesday morning that he thought the county had done a remarkably fine job of paring.

"Through the good work of the county, the city will be able to help immeasurably the small taxpayer," he said. The city should be able to cut down its expenses to the same degree the county did, if it can get the cooperation of all departments and boards. Every effort will be made to pull the city budget down to a low level, consistent with conditions at the present time.

The levy for Appleton this year is $25,882.50, while last year it was $339,030.64. The city budget last year was $611,450. While Mr. Goodland is sure that this total will be considerably reduced this year, he could make no estimate of how much.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR 1926 CLASS REUNION

A reunion of the graduating class of 1926 of Appleton high school is to be held at the Conway hotel at 6:30 Saturday evening, Dec. 26, according to final announcements made this week by Harold Bads, general chairman in charge of the event.

A banquet will open the evening's festivities during which time addresses will be given by H. H. Helble, high school principal and members of the class of 1926. A dancing party will follow the dinner program. Music for the event is to be furnished by a Madison orchestra.

CLOSE NAVIGATION ON UPPER RIVER MONDAY

Navigation on the lower Fox river between Menasha and De Pere will officially close at 6 o'clock next Monday evening, according to Nelson Wightman, governor engineer. Traffic on the upper Fox and Wolf rivers closed at 6 o'clock last Saturday evening.

Boats of the U. S. government which during the past season plied their way up and down the Fox river will again be stationed at Kaukauna this winter where they will receive an annual overhauling.

Approximately 20 men will be employed in the work of renovating government vessels, Mr. Wightman says.

LEAVES $200,000 ESTATE
Milwaukee—(P)—An estate estimated at $200,000 was left by Paul E. Mueller, treasurer of a firm of heating contractors, according to his will, filed for probate Wednesday. Mueller committed suicide Nov. 11, corner's records showed. The entire estate is requested to his widow.

RAILROADS PLACE 11,085 CARS INTO FREIGHT SERVICE

Report on First Nine Months of Year Received by Appleton Agent

Railroads of the United States, during the first nine months of this year placed 11,085 new freight cars in service, according to a report received here by A. W. Lisse, Appleton agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad company from the Western Railways' committee on Public Relations, Chicago, Ill.

In the same period last year, it was stated, 70,333 new freight cars were placed in service and two years ago, there were 59,529. Of the new freight cars installed, 3,576 were box cars, compared with 35,494 installed in the first nine months of 1930. There were also 4,616 new coal cars placed in service in the nine months period of this year, compared with 23,755 installed in the same period last year. In addition the railroads in the first nine months of this year installed 353 flat cars, 2,344 refrigerator cars, 55 stock cars, and 11 miscellaneous cars.

The railroads on Oct. 1 this year had 5,427 new freight cars on order, compared with 5,764 cars on the same day last year and 29,481 on the same day two years ago. These same railroads during the nine month period this year placed 195 new locomotives into service, compared with 632 in the same period of 1930, and 549 in 1929. New locomotives on order on Oct. 1, this year, totaled 27, compared with 181 in 1930.

Christmas Seal Idea Was Originated 25 Years Ago

BY PAUL HARRISON
Wilmington, Dela.— It was 25 years ago that a group of physicians asked the aid of Miss Emily P. Bissell in raising funds to save a child's tuberculosis sanatorium they had established in the hills near Wilmington. Their money was exhausted and they feared the institution might have to close.

Miss Bissell was a Red Cross worker. Shortly before, she had read of an unusual experiment in Denmark, where a Christmas seal was being sold through the postoffice. She believed the idea would work in Delaware and consulted advertising experts for advice and suggestions. All prophesied failure. But she went ahead.

Success From First
Howard Pyle, celebrated illustrator, designed the seal, and Miss Bissell herself advanced the money for printing and distribution. That first scale of Christmas seals cleared $1500 for the sanatorium. The following year they were offered nationally—still against the advice of advertising men—and netted $150,000.

"I remember that the national Red Cross, which that year sold the seals from Washington, had to put on 20 extra clerks to cope with the rush orders," Miss Bissell said.

"But the Red Cross is an emergency organization and must keep its personnel free for emergencies. So when the World War called for full activity, the Christmas seal sale was turned over to the National Tuberculosis Association, which has conducted it ever since."

Still Active
Miss Bissell now is president of the Delaware Anti-Tuberculosis Association, and still is active in the sale of seals which she started a quarter of a century ago. In 1930 more than $5,000,000 was realized from the health stickers and disbursed by 2955 local committees and associations. Tuberculosis sanatoria have increased from 86 to 633, and deaths have been reduced by more than half. However, tuberculosis still kills more persons between the ages of 15 and 45 than any other disease.

Emily P. Bissell, above, launched the first Christmas seal drive in this country. Below is a reproduction of a 1931 sticker.

COUNTY LEGIONAIRES WILL MEET ON DEC. 3

Outagamie-co council of the American legion will meet at Kaukauna Thursday evening, Dec. 3, for its regular November and December meetings. The scheduled meeting of the post the night of Nov. 26 has been postponed because of Thanksgiving.

Oney Johnston post of the American legion, Appleton, will hold its next regular meeting Monday evening, Dec. 7 at the Elk club. A special program is being arranged for the meeting.

10,037 MEN GIVEN WORK ON HIGHWAYS

Find Wisconsin Sixth in Number of Men Given Employment on Roads

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington—Wisconsin was sixth among all the states in the number of men given employment on state highways during October, the president's organization for unemployment relief has reported.

A total of 10,037 men was given work on Badger state highways during October. Contracts were let for work on 375 miles of road in the state. The contract price for roads and bridges was $5,568,904.

Pennsylvania led all the states furnishing employment to 27,418 workers. Louisiana was second employing 18,560; New York next, 16,391; then Texas, 14,978; and Missouri, 12,560.

The amount of highway work reported to the organization by 35 states revealed "a remarkable continuance of work" for October the report states. Usually the last three months of the year show sharp drops in the letting of contracts as well as in actual employment on state highways, it says, but this year the 35 states reported contracts valued at $25,657,413 and employed 221,275 workers on their highways that month. The allotment of next year's federal aid road funds on Oct. 15 doubtless helped the winter contracts along.

SAYS HEAVIER FUR ON ANIMALS MEANS LONG, COLD WINTER

If the time-old tale of the woods that heavily furred animals mean a severe winter ahead, Wisconsin will face a stern winter season this year. According to Earl Lutz, former caretaker of the old Albia park zoo, animals in the northern woods have heavier fur this year than last.

Mr. Lutz, who has just returned from a month's visit around Suring, says that the old hunters and settlers who have relied on their woodlore for many years, predict a cold winter. He said that the bears are getting ready to hibernate and they have rougher and heavier coats. Even the domesticated grey squirrels in Appleton parks have warmer coats, he said.

well as in actual employment on state highways, it says, but this year the 35 states reported contracts valued at $25,657,413 and employed 221,275 workers on their highways that month. The allotment of next year's federal aid road funds on Oct. 15 doubtless helped the winter contracts along.

START WORK SOON ON CITY SKATING RINKS

Eight Ponds to Be Put Into Shape for Annual Winter Sport

As soon as continuous cold weather arrives, eight rinks are to be put into shape for the ice-skating season, according to Theodore Albrecht Appleton street commissioner.

As in former years skaters in the first ward will use the rink at the intersection of N. Meade and E. Northgate; Sixth ward, Erb park; Fifth ward, W. Packard-st; and Third ward, W. Spencer and S. Outagamie-sts.

Skaters in the upper Fourth ward will use the rink at McKinley Junior high school, and in the lower Fourth ward on E. Walter-ave. Two rinks are to be put into condition in Jones park, one for skating and the other for hockey, Mr. Albrecht says.

"Y" COMMITTEEMEN HOLD JOINT MEETING

Cafeteria Dinner Will Be Served; F. J. Harwood to Preside

Department chairmen of the Y. M. C. A., committee chairman and committee members, will gather at 6:15 Monday evening at the Y. M. C. A. for a cafeteria supper and rally. A section of the cafeteria will be reserved for the men. After closing of the cafeteria the group will go into business meeting with F. J. Harwood, president of the association directors, presiding.

Organization of the various committees of the association has been completed during the last few weeks and at least one meeting held. Reports from committee chairmen will be received at the meeting and will be followed by a discussion of future plans.

Letters telling members of the gathering and asking they make reservations were sent out today by George F. Werner, general secretary of the association.

HORTONVILLE CLUB TO STAGE FARM PROGRAM

Final plans are being made by the Hortonville Commercial club for the farmers' institute which will be held in that village on Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 8 and 9. One of the features of the institute this year will be an address by Arthur Schultz of the university board of regents at Madison. Other speakers, from the state department of agriculture, will discuss various farm problems. Gus Sell, county agent, also will talk. There also will be demonstrations of 4-H club work and Miss Harriet Thompson, county home demonstration agent and Miss Marie Klein, county nurse, will be the speakers at special sessions for women.

A short play "Uncle Dick's Mistake" will be presented as part of the program by the students of Hortonville high school. The high school glee club will sing several numbers and there will be an old time dancing contest.

ARRANGE PLANS FOR COURSE IN FIRST AID

Plans for a course in first aid for people in industries who have aid problems to solve are being arranged by Carl Bertram, coordinator of Appleton vocational school. The course is to be offered early in January, according to Mr. Bertram. Leaders in various industries of the city will be invited to lead discussions in the various sessions. The course is to be designed to cover such problems as health, sanitation, and practical first aid.

See Abundance Of Rabbits
And Ring-Necked Pheasants

BLAZED TRAILS FOR SPORTSMEN
BY BERT CLAFIN

It is consoling to know that when our ducks and our snipe our partridge and our chicken are gone from the sloughs and marshes and from the upland covers, we can, and no doubt will, yet have game in abundance. And that game will be the ring-necked pheasant and the rabbit. The rabbit will always be with us, nor will there be any danger of him being exterminated, barring the possibility of some unforeseen epidemic which will cut him down even in the closed seasons. The ring-neck is growing rapidly in numbers. He is a lover of civilization, or perhaps I had better say, he prefers the haunts of man because of the more easily obtained food to be found there. When his numbers increase to such an extent that he is forced to expand in territory there are millions of acres of wild land awaiting him where he may prosper and multiply.

In some of the southern sections of the state an open season is allowed for shooting the pheasant. Their abundance warrants it. They are even crowding the Hungarian partridge back from his former haunts. With a little assistance here and there in the way of winter feeding, and conservative legislation it will be but a short time when the pheasant will throng the entire state. And once he is firmly established there is no reason why he cannot easily be maintained for all time to come.

So far as the rabbits are concerned, as I have said, unless some plague gets into their ranks they will easily hold their own. While the cottontail likes civilization, he can get along nicely far from it, and the snowshoes, or "jacks," as they are locally termed, prefer the wild swamps and cut-over timber land, such as prevails in Marinette-co to a larger extent than in any other.

Last Sunday a party of us made a trip to the region along the Big Eagle. This stream flows into the Peshtigo River from the north side. To get there you can go up 32 to Lakewood and from there on county line "F" across the big river. From there a side road will bring you down to the Big Eagle. Or you can drive north from Twin Bridge. We went up from High Falls along the northern side of the river.

You travel for some distance on a new road before you turn off toward the river for the hunting grounds. There are acres of huge granite rocks, some of which cover hundreds of feet in extent, lying all about the region. Along these big rocks are narrow, little swamps. In these swamps the "jacks" hold forth. They are very plentiful. Only about three hours were required for us to get our limits, using two dogs, which, by the way, were excellent ones.

The "jack" is not considered as good eating as the cottontail, but at this time of the year, if properly prepared they are very palatable. Later on, when the snow compels them to confine their diet to the bark of trees, their flesh becomes a bit rank and coarse.

Federal Jury Acquits William Storm Of Assaulting Dry Agent

WAS JUSTIFIED IN BEATING UP WINDOW PEEPER

Agrees Storm Had Right to Believe Agents Were "Peeping Toms"

Milwaukee, Wis.—A federal jury late yesterday decided William Storm, Appleton, was justified in administering a beating to Peter Whisman, prohibition agent, whom he was told was peeping in the basement window of his home and whom he thought was a "Peeping Tom." In the melee with Whisman and two other agents found in his yard, Storm broke Whisman's cheekbone and otherwise bruised him.

Storm was charged with assaulting a federal officer. The case went to the jury at 11 a. m., and the "not guilty" verdict returned at 4:35 p. m. The jurors spent much of the time in debating whether it was reasonable for Storm to assume the agents were "Peeping Toms." It was indicated by questions asked the court when the jury reported a disagreement at 3:30 p. m., and requested further instructions.

Trial Is Detailed
Incidents involved in the trial occurred at the Storm home at 1505 West Wisconsin street, Appleton, on the night of Jan. 31. After the fight Storm was taken to the police station at Appleton and apologized and shook hands with Whisman when convinced the three men who had been in his yard were prohibition agents. He was not brought to Milwaukee. Three days later, when the incident was reviewed in Milwaukee newspapers, W. Frank Cunningham, deputy prohibition administrator, demanded of the district attorney's office that the case be presented to the grand jury. That body returned an indictment charging assault.

At the trial today, Storm said his neighborhood had been annoyed by peepers and other intruders. The night previous, he and neighbors had reported the nuisance to Appleton police.

Frighten Women
He was reading in his home at 8 p. m., he testified, when his daughter Genevieve came running into the house terrified and said there were men peeping in the basement window. Almost simultaneously a neighbor, Mrs. Marie Burke, started for the Storm home to tell him three suspicious acting strangers were in the yard. She testified for the defense at the trial.

Storm rushed out into the back yard, he said, where he encountered three men. Besides Whisman, there were Agents John Kuemmerlein and Clarence Olson—each of the three 6 feet tall. Storm is 5 feet 5 inches in height.

He alleges all three seized him. One of them, whom he identified in court as Whisman, grabbed him by the necktie, he said. He struck out with his fists, then broke free and ran back into the house.

Agent's Story Differs
The agents told a different story. They went to the house, they said, to investigate a complaint there was a brewery in the basement. Storm greeted them when they rapped at the back door and asked whether the brewery in the basement belonged to him, they said. Immediately after they informed him they were federal men, Storm struck Whisman, who was in the lead, they testified.

In giving instructions to the jury Judge Ferdinand Geiger said Storm's assault was unwarranted unless he was certain the men were not dry agents. The jurors, in asking further instructions at 8:30 p. m., said there was one point they would like cleared up. "We don't quite understand whether the men had the right to place him under arrest at the time they rapped at the house door," the foreman said.

The judge informed them "if Storm was making beer in his house at the time, even if the beer was for his own use, he was committing a crime and the officers had the right to arrest him."

The jurors said they would also "like to know if Storm was arrested at that time, why he was not held," to which the judge replied, "That's immaterial."

Attorney L. Hugo Keller had charge of Storm's defense in the federal court.

Original Thanksgiving Proclamation

"By the President of the United States of America. Whereas it is the duty of all nations to acknowledge the providence of Almighty God, to obey his will, to be grateful for his benefits, and humbly to implore his protection and favor — and whereas both Houses of Congress have by their joint committees requested me to recommend to the People of the United States a day of public thanksgiving and prayer, to be observed by acknowledging with grateful hearts the many signal favors of Almighty God, especially by affording them an opportunity to establish a form of government for their safety and happiness."

Now, therefore, I do recommend and assign Thursday, the 26th day of November next, to be devoted by the People of these States to the service of that great and glorious Being who is the beneficent Author of all the good that was, that is, or that will be — That we may then all unite in rendering unto Him our sincere and humble thanks — for his kind care and protection of the People of this country previous to their becoming a Nation — for the signal and manifold mercies and the favorable interpositions of his providence, which we experienced in the course and conclusion of the late war — for the great degree of tranquility, union, and plenty, which we have since enjoyed — for the peaceable and rational manner in which we have been enabled to establish constitutions of government for our safety and happiness, and particularly the nation One now lately instituted — for the civil and religious liberty with which we are blessed and the means we have of acquiring and diffusing useful knowledge; and in general for all the great and various favors which He hath been pleased to confer upon us.

"And also that we may then unite in most humbly offering our prayers and supplications to the great Lord and Ruler of Nations, and beseech Him to pardon our national and other transgressions — to enable us all, whether in public or private stations, to perform our several and relative duties properly and punctually — to render our national government a blessing to all People by constantly being a Government of wise, just, and constitutional laws, discreetly and faithfully executed and obeyed — to protect and guide all Sovereigns and Nations (especially such as have shown kindness to us) and to bless them with good Government, peace and concord. To promote the knowledge and practice of true religion and virtue, and the increase of science among them and us — and generally to grant unto all mankind such a degree of temporal prosperity as he alone knows to be best."

"Given under my hand at the City of New York the third day of October in the year of our Lord 1789."

(signed) GEORGE WASHINGTON."

CHADEK AT WORK ON CARVED GAVEL FOR KIWANIS PRESIDENT

During the coming year meetings of the Wisconsin-Upper Michigan district of the Kiwanis clubs will be called to order and adjourned with the rap of a gavel—a fancy little mallet designed and carved by James Chadek, head of the woodworking department of Appleton vocational school.

The gavel is to be presented to W. F. Faulkes, former director of Appleton vocational school and now head of state rehabilitation work with headquarters at Madison, and district Kiwanis president. It will be presented to Mr. Faulkes with the compliments of four instructors of Appleton vocational school who served with Mr. Faulkes when he headed the local institution, and was responsible for the new vocational school building.

These instructors are Miss Mabel Burke, Mrs. John Morgan, Mrs. M. S. Peerenboom and Mr. Chadek.

The gavel is to be trimmed with inlaid gold and ivory, with a "K" and "1932" engraved in gold. The handle is to be trimmed with braided leather.

WHAT WORLD NEEDS IS MEN OF VISION, KIWANIANS HEAR

Speaker Blames Lack of Collective Responsibility for Depression

Lack of collective responsibility has caused the present economic depression, and the world must be "remade" before conditions are improved, Dr. Alexander Karr, Chicago, told the Kiwanis club at the weekly luncheon at the Conway hotel Wednesday afternoon.

"What the United States needs is men of vision, belief and a feeling of responsibility—men like Washington, Lincoln, Franklin—personalities that spelled leadership," Dr. Karr stated.

Stressing the need of cooperation, Dr. Karr said that a civilization will never reach its apex until all men work together. He said he believed it was lack of cooperation—with every man for himself—seeking the almighty dollar, that is partly responsible for the depression.

Dr. Karr said he had faith in the future and what it will have to offer because he has faith in man. Man is human and is moved by reason, and "necessity is the mother of invention," he stated.

Nations crumble and fall, civilizations are wiped out because of the lack of leadership—nations die from internal decay, the speaker stated. Quoting Congressman James A. Beck of Pennsylvania, Dr. Karr said that leadership in the United States is failing, and that its citizens are living too fast.

Referring to a biblical quotation, Dr. Karr said, "Haste is of the Devil." "This is an age of speed, and without the right kind of national pilots everyone is bound for destruction unless something is done soon," he stated.

Presenting another aspect of the "age of speed," the speaker said that during the next 25 years there will

COLD WEATHER ADDS TOUCH TO YULE OPENING

Merchants Complete Decorations for Annual Retail Trade Event

The cold snap of the past two days has done much to add a real touch to the approaching Christmas opening of Appleton retail merchants. The event is scheduled for Friday and Saturday.

This city is now donning its festive garments to greet the occasion. Employees of the Art-Kirklin Electric Co. have started stringing red, green and yellow lights on College avenue from Army to G to the Chicago and Northwestern railroad crossing. Approximately 1,040 lights are being hung from wires on both sides of the streets. There are about 20 lights between each pair of poles.

The lights will be turned on Friday evening throwing the city into a blaze of colored lights. Merchants are being urged to create a Christmas atmosphere within and outside their stores, with display windows decorated to fit the occasion on the day of the opening.

Many merchants already have placed their displays of new toys and other Christmas merchandise in store windows. Others have erected Christmas trees and other appropriate decorations on the tops of their buildings.

DIES OF INJURIES

be more and greater developments than the world has ever known.

Discussing the common opinions, affections and interests of United States citizens, the speaker said he believed this country is learning a great lesson from the depression.

We are learning that under common interests, the fundamentals of living are food, clothing and shelter—not luxuries in which this country was smothered before the crash, he stated.

"America needs men of vision, men with the determination to act, not day dreamers," the speaker declared. "That's the trouble—most of us have the idea that visions are dreams. Where there is no vision, people are bound to perish."

The truth is that within 24 hours after you start taking the efficient prescription called Allenru uric acid poison starts to leave your body.

Within 48 hours pain, agony, and distress are gone—you're happy again—and back on the job.

You're simply fooling yourself when you stick to makeshift pain deadeners and relievers—unless uric acid goes—rheumatism stays with you.

1,000 LETTERS WITH SEALS ARE MAILED IN CITY

Annual Campaign by Anti-Tuberculosis Association Opens Friday

One thousand seven hundred letters filled with penny tuberculosis Christmas seals will be received in Appleton homes Friday, the opening day of the local Christmas seal under the supervision of Mrs. Edgar V. Werner, president of the local committee of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association has set this year's goal at $2,500.

Plans for the seal campaign have been completed according to Mrs. Werner. "Christmas seal Sunday" will be observed in churches throughout the country this Sunday. City pastors will bring the attention of their congregations to the work of the Anti-Tuberculosis organizations in their fight against the white plague in the state. Next week booths will be set up in various city stores and later during the campaign a seal booth will be placed in the postoffice.

One half of the proceeds from the seal sale is used for local health work according to Mrs. Werner. The rest goes into the state fund for the fight against tuberculosis. Last year a tuberculosis clinic was set up, where 728 high school and vocational school children were examined. Four hundred and one of these students were designated for various treatments, 19 were given special tests and 12 were x-rayed. In addition to the tuberculosis clinic, three baby clinics were held averaging the examination of at least 50 babies at each clinic. From Jan. 1 to May 1, 7,330 bottles of milk were furnished to undernourished children, making a total expenditure of $400 for the year.

The seal sale opens in the city tomorrow and will continue until January 1932. Seals sent through the mails will be checked for the return of funds, mills and business places will be solicited.

MERCURY DROPS TO 15 DEGREES ABOVE

Thanksgiving day dawned clear and cold, the mercury registering 15 degrees above zero, the lowest morning temperature recorded here this fall. Judging from general atmospheric conditions, ideal weather will continue here at least for another 24 hours, unless a quick shifting winds blow up rough weather. Winds are shifting in the west and northwest. At 10 o'clock Thursday morning the mercury registered 22 degrees above zero.

DEATHS

THEODORE LOCKEN
The funeral of Theodore Locken, World War veteran who died Sunday, was held at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon from the home, 520 E. Lincoln-st., with services at 2:30 at the Norwegian Lutheran church at Lessor. The Rev. Philip A. C. Froehke of St. Matthew Lutheran church of this city was in charge of the services at the home, and the Rev. Mr. Gligsted at the Lessor church. Burial was in the church cemetery. The firing squad and bugler were members of Company D, of Appleton. Bearers were William, Ervin, Arthur, George, and Robert Werner, and Edgar Zimmerman.

CHARGE BUS DRIVER DIDN'T HAVE LICENSE

Ray Versteegen, 1027 W. Wisconsin-ave, driver of a bus for the Fox River Bus company, was arraigned in municipal court before Judge Theodore Berg yesterday on charge of operating a bus without a city license. Versteegen pleaded not guilty and the case was set for trial on Dec. 2. Versteegen was arrested by Fred Arndt, motorcycle officer, on W. College-ave Tuesday.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

by Ely Culbertson

READING THE LANGUAGE OF BIDS

Contract Bridge bidding furnishes the opportunity for the drawing of the most delicate inferences from partner's bids made under varying conditions. Accurate reading of these bids is the soul of Contract, and the perfect partnership at the Bridge table can make bids which to less experienced players appear daring, if not foolhardy, but are absolutely safe and based upon correct inferences drawn from what partner has said or failed to say.

In today's hand, a game contract at notrump was reached by apparently daring, but actually extremely accurate bidding. The contract so made was fulfilled by no less accurate play.

Neither side vulnerable. South—dealer.

Pass	Pass	1♠	1♥
1NT (1) Pass	2NT	Pass	Pass
3NT (2) Pass	Pass	Pass	Pass

1—South's bid of one notrump carries with it two distinct inferences. It shows a stopper in the spade suit which has been adversely bid and it also discloses a hand stronger than would have been shown by a minimum notrump takeout of partner's uncontroverted bid.

2—South, in addition to having a stopper in the suit adversely bid, has many strong intermediates. Note the important roles taken by these intermediates in the subsequent play of the hand.

Against the contract of three notrump, West opened the highest card of his partner's bid suit, the nine of spades. When the Dummy went down, both East and South made it the object of thoughtful consideration.

East, when he noticed that the Ace of diamonds was missing from the Dummy, was certain that he was without a sure card of re-entry. If he was to defeat the contract, he must be able to bring in his spade suit and not content himself with only 2 tricks in that suit. He, therefore, rightly refused to win the first round of the suit. From his failure to win this trick, South was able to draw the inference that his hand lacked a sure, or even a probable, entry outside his bid suit. Upon this basis he planned the play and proceeded to put the plan into execution. Winning the first trick with the spade Queen, he led the two of hearts and when West played a low

TEACHER'S FATHER ILL
Miss Edna Benton, teacher at Appleton high school, was called to her home in Wausauke, Tuesday evening by the critical illness of her father, W. C. Benton. Mrs. Harry Williamson, 113 E. Harris-st., another daughter, has been with her father since Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Clark and son, Douglas, left Thursday morning for Escanaba, Mich., to spend Thanksgiving day with relatives.

If Your Ears Ring With Head Noises.

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises go to Schlitz Bros. or your druggist and get 1 oz. of Parmit (double strength) and add to it 1/2 pt. of hot water and a little sugar. Take a tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Closed nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little, and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

8-HOUR DAY BILL OFFERED IN HOUSE

Assemblyman Nixon Offers Measure Mapped by Interim Group

Madison (AP)—A general eight-hour working day is proposed for the duration of the business depression by the interim committee on unemployment in a bill introduced by Assemblyman Robert Nixon, Bayfield, Wednesday.

Various attempts to legislate an eight-hour working day were made during the regular session of the legislature but they all failed.

Under the terms of the Nixon bill, no employer of three or more persons, including the state and its political subdivisions, shall employ persons for more than eight hours a day except in emergencies. "Time and a half" in wages would be paid for overtime work.

The bill would not affect persons engaged in caring for the sick in hospitals, sanatoriums and like institutions, watchmen, farm labor and persons engaged in private domestic service. The industrial commission would enforce the provisions of the bill.

Assemblyman Nixon wants the measure to be effective during the depression but fixes Dec. 31, 1933, as the limit.

EARTH SLIDES INTO DITCH AND KILLS MAN

Plymouth (AP)—Crushed and suffocated by dirt which slid into an excavation for a storm sewer, William Wendlandt, 63, was killed Wednesday.

Frank Yellen, working with Wendlandt at the bottom of a ditch, suffered a fracture of a leg. Dirt piled high beside the ditch, slid in without warning, Yellen said.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs. Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist (adv.)

FAVOR GOVERNOR'S JOB RELIEF PROGRAM

Trades and Labor Council Endorses Measures With Unanimous Vote

Governor Philip LaFollette's program for unemployment relief and compulsory unemployment insurance received the unanimous endorsement of the Appleton Trades and Labor council at the monthly meeting in the council hall Wednesday evening.

The council voted to send a representative to Madison to attend hearings of the legislature on these bills, and to express the views of the council in support of the program. Samuel Sigman will be the delegate.

A short address on unemployment and economic conditions in the southern cities of Wisconsin was given by John Richards, Wisconsin Rapids, member of the executive board of the State Federation of Labor.

Mr. Richards told the council that he was walking through a Kenosha park recently where he watched a group of needy children following a keeper of the park zoo, begging the caretaker for stale bread he was about to feed to the animals.

The speaker said that conditions in the southern cities are deplorable. In the northern part of the state, in the northern part of the state,

SENATE ISN'T ALARMED OVER STOCK DEALS

Members Think They're Important Only if Tied Up With Sugar Lobby

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright 1931 by Post Pub. Co.)
Washington — Most members of the United States senate now in Washington were disposed Tuesday to regard the revelations about the sugar stock transactions of Senators James Watson and James J. Davis, Republicans, as important only if it could be proved that this in any way was tied up with the lobby for a sugar tariff.

A large number of members of both the house and senate have investment in stocks and bonds. It has been a rule that members should not vote on anything in which they have a direct interest, but this has been construed to mean active management rather than investment in an enterprise. If members are disqualified from voting because they owned stocks in companies affected by legislation, there hardly could be any legislation by majority vote as too many would have to refrain from voting.

The real test is the honesty and conscientiousness of the individual member. Many a case is known in which members voted against legislation that would have benefited them privately. In the case of Senators Watson and Davis, ownership of sugar stocks could not have been a factor in assuring their votes in favor of a protective tariff as both are protectionists and come from constituencies that have always favored the protective tariff. The question really turns on whether Messrs. Davis and Watson tried to influence other votes and made any special effort in behalf of the sugar tariff. No evidence of this kind has been produced by the senate committee investigator.

All this may not prevent political opponents and possibly some of the Progressives from attacking both Senators Davis and Watson on the ground that they bought stock from the head of a company who was himself endeavoring to obtain tariff favors. It already has been used by political enemies of Senator Davis who in a public statement lays the whole accusation to politics.

It may also lead to a discussion of how far individual members of congress should go in declaring their private holdings in connection with any votes they may have to cast on current economic questions. For members of the legislative branch of the government and members of the executive departments and commissions who have money to invest it is difficult to find any investment, with the possible exception of government bonds, that isn't directly or indirectly affected by legislation or governmental rulings. Even the price of government bonds can be affected by governmental action, and it could be conceivably be charged that the action taken was for the purpose of making a profit on such bonds should it ever be revealed that governmental officials themselves happened to buy or sell bonds before or after important action was taken affecting those bonds.

Many public officials are not dependent on their salaries but come here with sizeable fortunes so it is difficult to frame a satisfactory code of ethics other than the guiding influence of an individual's conscience. The test of any senate action always will be a belief in the propriety or impropriety of some individual act in which all the facts of the case are available.

JACES OUTLINE PLANS FOR RELIEF CAMPAIGN

Headed by William Wing, Jr., committees of the Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce are arranging a program of public welfare and relief work for needy families of the city. During the next few days Mr. Wing expects to appoint seven or eight chairmen who will head various committees in the relief drive. Some of these committees also will make negotiations with other relief agencies of the city in an effort to lend cooperation to those groups.

OLD POST OFFICE IS TO BE RENTED AFTER MAY 1, 1932

In response to a request submitted to the U. S. Treasury department, Postmaster Emmerly Greunke learned this morning that the old post-office building is to be rented as soon as the building is vacated about May 1, 1932. Mr. Greunke says he has been receiving numerous inquiries as to what disposition is to be made of the old structure when the new building is ready for occupancy.

The department pointed out that Postmaster Greunke is authorized to rent the building to any individual or firm for purposes which will not be subject to legitimate public criticism. Mr. Greunke is now busy selecting furniture and equipment for the new building, as outlined in government specifications. The work will probably take about two weeks.

MUST PAY PREMIUMS BEFORE GETTING AID

Madison— There's $300,000 under direction of the state department of agriculture and markets that, temporarily at least, is going begging.

The money is to be given away through the division of state aid to county fairs, but the division can't pay out the money until the county groups report having paid out their scheduled premiums.

Several county fairs failed to pay their premiums this year. Their officials said dwindling attendance and consequent poor receipts caused lack of funds to meet the premium lists. Ralph Ammon, chief of the fair division, said only 57 of the 74 county fairs have made their official reports to the state department of agriculture and markets.

He suggested county groups might be able to borrow from local banks, signing over their contemplated state fair aid, to meet premium payments.

STUDENTS PLAN TO ENGAGE SPEAKERS

At a meeting of the Lawrence college students senate held Tuesday evening, it was decided to set aside $200 for the securing of well known speakers who will appear on the regular tri-weekly chapel programs for the rest of the school year. This fund is to be used to secure speakers who will address the student body in current affairs and international relations. It is planned to have in the near future, both a Japanese and a Chinese student who are studying in American universities, and who will give their interpretations of the situation in Manchuria. A representative of the League of Nations will also speak soon.

BOARD SLASHES CLAIMS FROM TWIN CITIES

Justices of Peace Made Improper Charges, Committee Reports

Neenah—While apparently there has been no intentional discrepancy, various justice officials of Neenah and Menasha, and the city of Neenah itself, have been making improper charges against Winnebago for compensation charges, according to a report from Oshkosh.

This situation revealed itself at the November session of the county board which closed Tuesday, when the committee on constables and justices accounts challenged amounts presented in claims from the twin cities.

The matter was taken up with Frank B. Keefe, district attorney, with the result that claims originally amounting to $1,575.75 from the twin cities were slashed to $613.46. In this procedure, the county was saved an expense of $962.29.

Not only that, but a demand was made on one of the justices of the peace at Neenah by the district attorney, who issued instructions that a sum of $238.34 should be turned into the county treasury. This amount represents fines collected in state cases, not turned over to the county.

The payment was made Tuesday just before the committee had completed its final report to the board. Instead of the requested amount of $238.34, the justice paid in $238.34, evidently including some additional fines collected since his justice docket was filed Nov. 1. There may be further returns to which the county is entitled and the county board, before adjourning, instructed the district attorney to investigate further.

Chris Jensen had two claims for fees at this session of the board which were drastically slashed. One was for $314.83 which was cut to $154.02, the other was for $143.07 of which only $119.81 was allowed.

Other claims for fees originating in the twin cities were as sharply cut by the committee. James Lyman, chief of police at Menasha, had a claim for $137.36. He was allowed $55.10. O. B. Baldwin, Neenah constable, had a claim of $30.45 which was cut to $23.11. City of Neenah had a bill for fees amounting to $493.64. The county board paid only $179.45. George C. Harness, Neenah, offered a claim for $216.18, which was slashed to $74.78. In the claim of Joseph J. Kolaczinski, Menasha, for $201.31, the amount of $62.19 was allowed.

Mr. Lea, chairman of the committee, in making his report, explained the disallowed portion of the claims represents fees illegally assessed to the county, which should be paid by the municipality itself.

Supervisor E. G. Sonnenberg of Menasha explained the situation has been working out in this manner: If a defendant in court was able to pay his fine, then the proceeds were kept by the justice and the various officers given their fees from such amounts. However, when the defendant was unable to pay, the case was listed as a state case, even for local ordinance violations, and a bill for fees went to the county.

Attorney Keefe gave the same version that the county has been paying the officers' fees in strictly city ordinance cases, where such charges should logically be against the municipality where the case was tried. When the investigation began, Mr. Keefe said, there was some difficulty in tracing the items, because the dockets listed only state cases. Further survey revealed, however, that some of the violations listed in the supposed state cases were merely infractions of local ordinances and not state cases at all. In his written opinion to the committee, Mr. Keefe gave this information:

"All of the returns made by the justices of the peace are entitled state of Wisconsin vs. certain defendants. An examination of the cases disclosed that all of those I have checked are cases involving violations of the local ordinances of the cities of Neenah and Menasha, and are not state cases.

CHURCHES OBSERVE THANKSGIVING DAY

Menasha—A Thanksgiving service, directed by the Rev. John Best, was conducted at the Congregational church at 11 o'clock Thursday morning. Special music by the reorganized Congregational choir, under the direction of Franklin LeFevre, was included.

An 8 o'clock communion service was conducted by the Rev. A. Gordon Fowkes at St. Thomas Episcopal church and a Thanksgiving service, with the Rev. J. G. Pohley in charge was to be held at Trinity Lutheran church at 9:30. Special services in the Catholic churches, also were planned.

MAN DESIGNS OWN FUTURE, CLUB ADVISED

Five Bad Habits Most Common to Humans Discussed for Rotarians

Menasha—Auto-suggestion is a vital element in life, Otto Olin, Clintonville, told Menasha Rotarians at a meeting in Hotel Menasha Wednesday noon.

Speaking on "Force of Habit," Olin explained that man is born in a field of battle between evil and good, and in everyday life, through virtue or vice, designs his own fate. It is natural to have habits, both good and bad, and through auto-suggestion, bad habits can be overcome, he maintained.

Olin discussed the relativity of habits, and outlined the five bad habits most common to man, adding that it is easier to eliminate all bad habits at one time than to attempt to fight them singly.

Wednesday's program was arranged by Dr. G. E. Forbin, program chairman for November.

claims against the county in state cases, the claims should likewise be allowed.

"It is my opinion that all cases involving violations of city ordinances the claims of either the officers or justices of the peace are not proper claims against Winnebago."

Continuing, his opinion read: It would therefore seem, in accordance with reasoning and good logic, that in those cases where the fine and costs are not paid the city should reimburse the justice and the officers for their costs. In reality, it would seem the city would be responsible for only the justice fees, as the officers are on a full-time salary basis, and are paid by the city."

Twenty-four persons, residents of Winnebago-co, have been appointed as dance supervisors for the year 1932. The list includes Wilsey Johnson, Butte des Morts; Carl Drexler, Menasha; H. A. Krueger, Oshkosh; M. L. Muecke, Oshkosh; Charles Nelson, Oshkosh; Edward Jensen, route 1 Menasha; John Jensen, Allenville; Leo T. Niemuth, Oshkosh; Walter Hoff, Oshkosh; George Stone, Omro; Theodore Finch, Menasha; John P. Hughes, Oshkosh; William Bouchette, Oshkosh; John M. Redmond, Oshkosh; Theodore Engleke, Oshkosh; Lawrence Bellin, Neenah; V. J. Savelli, Oshkosh; Gus Zarling, Robert Zarling, E. E. Winn and Harvey Bates, recommended by Community Grange; R. M. Henk, route 1 Menasha; Edward Nelson and Fred Peters, Oshkosh.

A county system of poor relief, with a central clearing house to handle all charities in order to avoid duplication, is in the minds of the county board. A committee to investigate the feasibility of such a system was appointed.

The personnel of the committee as named by the board chairman is T. J. Cotter, chairman, Oshkosh; Adam Scheuerman, Oshkosh; Robert Howlett, town of Algoma; Henry Schwartzbauer, town of Menasha and L. P. Tritt, town of Poygan. The committee will hold its first meeting on Dec. 2.

When a new sheriff is elected for the county, and the time comes to enter into a new contract for board for prisoners at the county jail, the board intends to secure a reduced rate for meals. The present price is 33 cents.

U. S. WILL COME OUT OF SLUMP, REILLY THINKS

Country Had Reached Limit of Buying Power, He Tells Kiwanians

Neenah—Twin City Kiwanis clubs met here Wednesday noon for their weekly luncheon. Congressman M. K. Reilly of Fond du Lac was the speaker. Discussing the depression, Mr. Reilly stated that this country has gone through about 15 depressions and panics in all, and always gone forward to greater industrial achievements. There can be no doubt but that we are going to come out of this depression and return to the highway of prosperity.

"We have built up in this country the most stupendous industrial organization from the standpoint of efficiency that the world has ever known, but we have yet to learn to solve the problems of how to manage and control a machine age," he said.

"Our country is suffering today from an inflation that has taken place in the last 25 years. Profits have been capitalized as never before, with the result that millions of American citizens are the owners of stocks and bonds today, from which they are receiving no returns. The depression of 1893 was a serious industrial depression, but at that time the whole country was living close to the ground and the effects were not felt so seriously. In 1929, when the present depression began, we were all living as the world had never lived before, practically so to speak, up on stilts which have been knocked from beneath us, as our country had reached the limit of its buying power. A great many people had bought everything on the installment plan and they were unable to continue longer in the market."

As to prohibition, Mr. Reilly claimed that in his judgment nothing would be done until the next presidential election.

RED CROSS STAGES BENEFIT PROGRAM

Large Crowd Brings Food-stuffs for Distribution to Needy Families

Menasha—Hundreds of youngsters and adults, bringing non-perishable food stuffs for admission, attended the Thanksgiving benefit show sponsored by the Menasha chapter of Red Cross in the Brin theatre Wednesday afternoon. A welcome address by Mayor N. G. Remmel, selections by the Menasha high school band, vocal solos, readings, dances, a motion picture comedy and short subjects were included in the afternoon program.

Following the performance food-stuffs brought by those in attendance were sorted by the Red Cross home service committee in preparation for distribution to needy families Thursday morning. Boy Scouts of troop 9 assisted Red Cross officials in distributing the food today. Camp fire girls and Girl Reserves under the direction of Miss Josephine Van Campen of the Y. W. C. A. were ushers.

MENASHA KIWANIANS AT NEENAH MEETING

Menasha—Menasha Kiwanis club members attended a meeting of Neenah Kiwanians at the Valley Inn Wednesday noon. Because of Wednesday's meeting at Neenah, at which Congressman Michael K. Reilly of Fond du Lac was the speaker, the Menasha organization cancelled its regular session at Hotel Menasha Tuesday noon.

Man Takes Own Life By Hanging

Menasha—Anton J. Marx, 57 took his own life by hanging in his home at 621 Broad shortly after 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. His body was found by a member of the family and although police and a physician were called immediately, efforts to revive the man were futile.

He had been in ill health and had recently become dependent, according to reports. Martin Potratz, Winnebago-co coroner, has announced that no inquest will be held.

Marx was formerly a contractor and several years ago was in charge of constructing a number of concrete sidewalks and streets in Menasha. He was employed for a time by the John Strange Paper company and later worked as a millwright for the Menasha Paper Corporation. He was a member of the St. Joseph's society and of the Menasha aerle of Eagles.

Born in the town of Harrison, June 13, 1874, Marx had been a resident of Menasha for about 40 years. Survivors are his widow, four sons, Joseph of Milwaukee, Edward of Canada, Roman and Harold of Menasha; three daughters, Mrs. Carl Bauer of Appleton and the Misses Marcella and Marian Marx of Menasha; seven brothers and one sister.

The funeral will be held at 9 o'clock Saturday morning at St. Mary church. Burial will be in St. Mary cemetery.

MRS. WALTER LOESCHER GIVEN DIVORCE DECREE

Menasha—Asserting she had been supporting her husband during a period when he has been unemployed, but that he gambled and neglected her, Mrs. Margaret Loesch, Oshkosh, obtained a divorce Wednesday in county court from Walter Loesch, formerly of Menasha. The Loeschers were married in 1918, divorced in 1919, and remarried in 1929. They have two children. In accordance with a stipulation, she will have the use of the home, but if she should remarry it is to be sold and the proceeds divided equally. She obtains custody of the children and $20 a month for their support.

Miss Irene Riesenweber entertained at bridge Tuesday evening at her home on Doty-ave. Prizes were won by Miss Lillian Koerwitz and Miss Verna Fahrbach.

Neenah Fuel Firm To Pay Back Taxes

Washington, D. C.—The Jageron Fuel company, of Neenah, will have to pay Uncle Sam $9,194.08 to make up a deficiency in its income tax for the fiscal year ended Jan. 31, 1931, under a decision just handed down by the United States board of tax appeals.

The Neenah company, formerly known as the Defnet and Jageron Fuel company, sought a deduction of $25,514.25 from its gross income as a loss actually sustained within the taxable year upon the decline in the market value of lumber which it claimed in its inventory. This has been disallowed.

The company, since its incorporation in 1917, has bought and sold siad wood, edgings, baled shavings and sawdust. It maintained an office at Neenah, but never shipped its purchases there. It carried on its middle-maning business by mail. It purchased its merchandise from various sawmills, principally in Wisconsin, but left the wood at the mills. Later, having contracted purchasers, it would order the mills to ship the merchandise direct to them.

Declines In 1920 The price of lumber declined sharply in 1920, forming the basis of the Neenah company's inventory of the merchandise was arrived at by deducting the merchandise the company ordered the mills to ship to customers from the total merchandise it had purchased from the mills under agreements on which down payments had been made.

The board of tax appeals ruled that title to the merchandise remained with the sawmills until actually shipped. Thus the merchandise, purchased by the Jageron company, but with title remaining in seller, cannot be included in an inventory, and no deduction for estimated loss is allowed.

Chicago, Iowa, Indiana, Illinois Battle For Charity Today

FLORIDA GATORS AND CALIFORNIA ON WEST COAST

Nebraska vs. Pitt, Carnegie vs. New York U. Interest East

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK—(AP)—Time-honored rivalries of the gridiron drew football fans throughout the country to stadiums today for the "climax" games of the season.

Except in the mid-west, where a four-team charity circus involving the lower-ranking members of the Big Ten held the featured spot, games of long-standing tradition topped the program in every section.

Big Ten Holds Circus

Chicago, Iowa, Indiana and Illinois were scheduled to hook up in an elimination event at Chicago with the winners of two preliminary contests chasing in a final brief game.

Outside of this "circus" the Marquette-Drake game at Des Moines was the only outstanding contest of the mid-west program.

The day's action was scheduled to open in the east with Colgate and Brown resuming their 23-year-old rivalry at Providence, R. I. with play starting at 11 a. m.

The thirty-sixth struggle between Cornell and Pennsylvania, this year two of the east's leading teams, headed the eastern program. Two powerful elevens, each defeated only once, carried on a rivalry that began in 1893 and missed only one year—1918—since then.

Other traditional rivalries scheduled for renewal were the Crossed-Boston college and Carnegie Tech-New York university. Nebraska against Pittsburgh headed the inter-sectional card. Each is a candidate for the topmost honors in its own section, having suffered only one defeat before going into the game.

Gators on West Coast

The only other inter-sectional game of major importance saw the Gators of California invading the Pacific coast for a game with the University of California at Los Angeles. Added interest in this game was seen in a unique day and night arrangement whereby the first half was to be played by daylight and the second half under floodlights.

The Tennessee-Kentucky game at Lexington carried over the honors in a big southern schedule as it brought a possible definite settlement of the Southern conference title race. A Tennessee victory would give the Volunteers a claim on the crown but if Kentucky scored an upset the title would go to Tulane without argument.

Vanderbilt and Alabama offered another top-ranking attraction while Virginia Military Institute and Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University, Auburn and South Carolina, Mississippi and Mississippi A. M. and North Carolina and Virginia met in other big conference games.

In the southwest, Texas and Texas A&M held the spotlight with both tradition and a pair of strong teams to capture interest.

The Utah Indians were favored to capture another Rocky Mountain conference crown by eliminating the Utah Aggies, the last remaining obstacle in their path.

Oregon, which has been more successful in inter-sectional play than at home faced the Gaels of St. Mary's smarting from a pair of recent defeats in the outstanding sectional game on the west coast.

Sports Question Box

Q. When jabbing is it proper to cross the right hand over to the left jaw to stop a punch?
A. This is a matter of opinion to the boxer using the blow. Good boxers never cross the hands but guard the jaw by lowering the chin and using the shoulders as a guard. The right hand is held in position to retaliate, the elbow deflected and the fist on a line with the jaw.

Q. If I run part way to first base and then stop am I out because I stop?
A. No. Don't leave the baseline in the last 45 yards if a play is being made to first base to put you out.

Q. Is Billy Hood, now campaigning in this country, the British welterweight champion?
A. No. Jack Hood is the champion. Only does on Bill is that he beat Gordon Cook, Welsh light weight, in fifteen rounds, decision.

Q. Is a baseball league to be organized for 1932 which will charge ten cents for admission?
A. It is reported that an attempt is being made to organize one in Michigan.

Short Sports

The traditional cross-country run between the University of Oregon and Oregon State college was cancelled this year because of lack of material.

Four members of the DePaul university football squad are studying for the ministry.

Joe Kurth, Notre Dame tackle is the youngest of 12 children.

Snow forced the Washington State college football team to work indoors in its big field house at Pullman, Wash., during late practice sessions this fall.

Dick Penel, Northwestern end, once planned to study for the priesthood.

D. G. S. went back into first place in the Elk Ladies league by taking three straight from its nearest opponents, the Tip Tops.

The first win was by 12 pins thanks to a 92 turned in D. Catlin of the Tops. In the second game V. Ashman rolled a 182 for the D. G. S. and in the third the team won despite the fact a 159 by E. Ashman was high score. E. Schneider of the losers got only 90 in the last game.

Cubs took the second and third games from the Cracker Jacks after losing the first because of a 95 and 97 by V. Becker and E. Catlin, respectively. E. Versteegen had 474 series for the winners, E. Pingel 453 for the losers.

L. Pingel and L. Dunn rolled the Hit 'n Miss team to win over the J. H. and Son team. Pingel had 183, 163, 163-524 and Dunn 182, 163, 171-521.

The Elkettes were bumped in three games again, the Teasers winning this time. M. Ingenthron set the pace for the Teasers with 160, 167, 145-472. Ellen Dunn's average of 162 for each game and a 455 series was high for the losers.

In the other match the Midgets lost the first game when M. Ross showed an 85 total, and then rallied behind E. Koetsch and R. Kolitsch to win the last two contests. The Freasers were the losers, H. Strassburger with 155, 123, 122-408 having the best scores.

Team 1 (2) 825 871 835 2542
Team 6 (1) 825 838 895 2581

Team One in the City Major League won two more games the other evening, Team Sx being the victor. V. Schmidt with a 170 and G. Vervey with a similar score gave the Ones a seven pin margin in the first game. Vervey with a 159 in the second game and A. Weisgerber with a 144 gave the team the margin in the second win. The third game went to the Sixes when J. Bauer batted a 215. G. Brocklin won 150, 152, 175-532 had high series for the losers.

F. Fries picked himself another 503 series as the Whatateam beat the Dollar Cleaners in two games. Fries hit 215 in the first game and a team won. The second game was lost by six pins when A. Mitchell of the Cleaners reported with 211, and R. Currie 215. Fries' 532 then gave his team another win in the last game. Currie had a 575 series from 150, 212, 175 for the losers.

R. and S. Shoes won three from the Demi Meats. L. Steiner rolled 263 for the Shoes in the first game. R. Lessebourg a 265 in the second. Then his 176 in the third was good enough to swing the decision in favor of his team. He had a 543 for the series.

BURDICK QUALIFIES AS HARD LUCK GUY ON GOPHER ELEVEN

Minneapolis—(AP)—Quentin Burdick of Williston, N. D., who as a sophomore won prominence on the University of Minnesota football team, today claimed the title of the "hardest hard luck" athlete in the history of the Gopher school.

The unfortunate Gopher gridiron prodigy is recovering at university hospital from an appendectomy performed Tuesday when he was seized with a serious attack of appendicitis. The final blow in his unlucky athletic career meant the finish of any further gridiron effort for Burdick who now is a senior.

As a sophomore he gained prominence in the backfield of the Gopher team. Depended upon as an important cog in last year's eleven, Burdick developed an injured knee which kept him out of play, and he failed to win a letter. Apparently on the road back to fame, he suffered a recurrence of his knee injury in an early season game with Oklahoma A. & M. this year. He recovered enough, however, to enter the lineup in the game with Wisconsin, but again fell prey to his ill luck and was injured. The final stroke of ill fortune was the attack of appendicitis.

KIMBERLY CLUB OPENS CAGE CARD WITH KIEL

Kimberly—The Kimberly Club basketball team will play its opening game with the strong Kiel city team on the local courts Friday evening.

The Kimberly team is made up of a group of youngsters who have plenty of experience and a few years back helped Kimberly win the state amateur championship.

The team during its practices has developed a short pass offense. In the first practice game held Monday evening at the clubhouse the locals had no trouble scoring at will. The opponents were the Sonnenberg Drums from Menasha. After the smoke had cleared the game ended 183 to 157 by L. Dunn was high score for the girls in the third game when they lost it. E. Dunn had a 541 series.

WIN MATCH GAME

O. K. Taxis improved their lead in Eagles pin circles with three wins from the L. G. Graef Lumber. Stark Hotels took three from the Sell Specials and moved into second place in standings.

The Taxis were paced by Koester with 191 in the first game and by Heibeler with 190 in the second. In the last game Kunitz rolled a 157 for the dear old Taxis and made it three straight. Hy Strutz rolled 164, 164, 203-521.

Stark Hotels took their three games from the Sell Specials. Heinritz with 182 set the pace in the first win. Grearson with 210 in the second and Bushey with 204 in the third. Ashauer's 499 series was the best effort on the part of the Sells.

A 534 by Flynn and a 523 series by C. Krabbe added the Pure Milks in three wins over the Koch Glasses. H. Strutz had 151, 179, 189-542 for the Glasses.

Modern Cleaners won the first and second games from the Goos Specials. A 243 by Yelg of the Cleaners was the most sensational bit of bowling in the match.

Minnesota and Wisconsin state university football elevens have a practically unbroken rivalry extending over 40 years, the most constant series in the west.

BADGERS WINDUP PRACTICE SEASON

Hope to Get Jump on Wolverines by Use of Forward Passes

Madison—(AP)—Wisconsin's Badgers wound up their football season on the home field yesterday, going through the last practice in preparation for the charity game with Michigan.

Freezing weather apparently failed to dampen enthusiasm. It was apparent the Badgers are not afraid of the Wolverines. The dissatisfaction that was voiced at Ann Arbor when Michigan drew Wisconsin for the charity game seems to have had the proper emotional effect in the Wisconsin camp.

With the exception of Paul Ellicker, halfback, all the Badgers who saw action at Chicago last Saturday are in condition to play.

Nello Paetoli and Jim Wimmer are expected to divide the quarterback duties. Joe Linfor, Russ Rehn and Walter McGuire will be at the halves while Harry Pike and John Scheller will be at fullback. Catlin and Haworth are expected to start at end, Smith and Kranhold at tackles and Kabat and Cuthbert at guards. Simmons and Kruger will divide the center job.

Facing one of the strongest defensive teams in the conference, the Badgers are expected to draw heavily on their aerial play. Drills on pass offense have characterized all the practice this week and the Badgers hope to get the jump on the Wolverines by using the overhead game.

DEMPEY TO SHOW HIS STUFF AT FARGO, N. D.

Fargo, N. D.—(AP)—Four opponents have been signed to meet Jack Dempsey here Dec. 4 in one-round exhibition bouts. They are Charlie Roszell, heavyweight favorite of North Dakota, Swede Granberg of Fargo, Harry Dunkeak of St. Louis and Jack Russell of Chicago.

MARQUETTE CLOSES FOOTBALL SEASON

Des Moines, Ia.—(AP)—Marquette's Golden Avars, victor in seven of eight games played, closes its season here today against the Drake university football team. The contest also ends the college football career of Johnny Sisk, great Marquette halfback.

A Kid With BB Gun Helps Football Team Get A Story

IT WAS almost 5 o'clock last evening when there sounded a riotous noise on the steps leading to the Post-Crescent editorial rooms.

"Sounds like a football team coming up the steps," said the Society Editor, and she glanced toward the door expecting it to come right off the hinges in a few minutes.

But then there was quiet and the Sports Editor figured it a false alarm. But not for long, for the nob turned slowly and the door opened a bit and a glance revealed a sea of young faces peering into the room.

"What ho! What football team have we here?" spoke the Sports Editor, and with that ten or eleven youngsters rushed through the door and marching single file lined up in front of the Sports Editor's desk.

"We won a football game and we want it put in the paper," spoke up the leader.

"And who are you?" asked the S. E.

"The St. Joe Red Devils," came the answer from ten lusty lunged chaps, "and we were supposed to play the First Ward Blue Birds at the First Ward field and they didn't show up and they're afraid to play us."

"But how about the game the other night when the First warders went down to Jones park in the mud and rain and you fellows didn't show up and the First warders claimed a forfeit," the Sports Ed queried.

"Aw we told their center we couldn't play the game but he didn't tell 'em," came back the answer.

"And say, listen," the spokesman of the tribe, a round faced youngster with a shock of light hair said, "give us a good story, don't put in only the names, write something about the game."

And as we sized up the group we spotted one fellow with a BB gun, an end on the team, and with a threat like that we couldn't do much more than say we'd write a story, for we know what a kid with a BB gun can do.

So after we promised we learned that Hugh Miller is one end on the team, Robert Stearns another, Leo Weber a big husky tackle, James Drexler the left tackle, Francis Kolosso the left guard, Kenneth Bobber the right guard, Robert "Red" Massonet the center, Frank Kamp the right half and captain, Elmer Reider the left half, and Robert DeLeste the fullback. The quarter back's name is Diener, so the boys said, but they didn't know his first name.

Yes, it was quite a team, the biggest chap being, Weber, the tackle, and those ends, says they weren't knee high to that proverbial grass hopper. They use leather helmets they wear in winter for head guards and they wear a lot of clothing for protection from bumps and bruises.

And as we said before, there was a kid with a BB gun. Maybe that's why the First warders didn't show up, for can you imagine what a kid with a BB gun could do to another football team?

Well, anyway, he helped the youngsters get "more than the names" in the paper.

Chaff 'n Chatter

By Gordon E. McIntyre

A Catlin vs. A Heston
Young Mark Catlin seems to be busting into this column regularly during the last two weeks or more but then, that doesn't seem to be his fault and it Bud's good for another story, that's my good luck.

Saturday afternoon when Wisconsin plays Michigan, there'll be a Catlin at end for the Badgers, and there may be a Heston in the back field for the Wolves. And if young Mark ever gets a chance to smack young Heston he can pick himself off the ground and say: "My old man, stopped your old man once or twice away back when—and every time I get a chance I'm going to stop you, too."

And some of the more ambitious scribes will dig up the dusty files and go back to the day long, long ago, when old Mark Catlin playing end for Chicago stopped old Willie Heston, then one of the greatest Wolverine backs, and beat Michigan in a game that brought ever lasting glory to the Maroons.

History DOES repeat itself.

MELINKOVICH BACK IN RAMBLER LINEUP

South Bend, Ind.—(AP)—Strengthened by the return of fullback George Melinkovich, 35 determined men of Notre Dame headed for New York and their important battle with the Army today.

Melinkovich apparently was ready for a full 60 minutes of action. His shoulder, injured in the Navy game, was healed and his return put the team in high spirits.

Coach "Hunk" Anderson said he probably would start Steve Banas at fullback but that Melinkovich would get into the battle.

AND ANOTHER COACH JOINS THE BENEDICTS

Iowa City, Iowa—(AP)—George Bresnahan, University of Iowa track coach, and Miss Dorothy Withington of Tama were married here Wednesday morning.

Bresnahan, a University of Wisconsin graduate, came to Iowa in 1921. He previously had served as assistant track and cross country coach at Wisconsin.

Mrs. Bresnahan is the daughter of Mrs. Grace Withington of Tama. She attended Grinnell and Iowa State colleges.

EVEN CRISLER BUYS CHARITY GRID DUCAT

Minneapolis—(AP) Actors will pay to see their own show at the Big Ten charity football game Saturday.

H. O. Crisler, Minnesota head coach and athletic director, has bought a ticket to see his team play Ohio State. So have trainers, newspapermen, and Oscar Munson, equipment custodian who hasn't had to do so before in his 33 years at the University.

Only grid members, the university band, ticket takers and guards will be admitted free. The aim is to raise all the money possible for charity.

MILLER CORDS AND JERSILD KNITS MEET

Clash Tonight at S. A. Cook Armory, Neenah, as Pro Season Opens

Miller Cords basketball team of Appleton will open the 1931-32 pro cage season tonight at Neenah when it meets the Jersild Knits at the S. A. Cook armory. The Cords will be composed of a half dozen or more former Lawrence college cage stars including Hayward Biggers, Dan Steinberg, Bud Pierce, Ken Laird, and Milton Scheurle of Oshkosh state teachers and Roy Nielsen, former Carleton college ace.

The Knits have signed Bud Foster and George Hotchkiss of Wisconsin to play with them.

ANNUAL FAIR DATES SET FOR FEB. 25 AND 26

Walter P. Hagman Relected
Chairman of Arrangements Committee

Kaukauna — At a meeting of the Kaukauna Advance Association in Hotel Kaukauna Wednesday evening the dates for the annual mid-winter fair were set for Feb. 25 and 26, and Walter P. Hagman was relected chairman of the arrangements committee. Hagman has directed the fair activities for the past three years. The county board recently appropriated $900 for the Kaukauna event, the amount being $100 less than in previous years. Arrangements for the fair will be started soon by Mr. Hagman and his committee. These committees will be appointed later. Actual soliciting for prizes to be given at the fair will be started shortly after the Christmas season, according to Mr. Hagman. Committee heads of the membership drive reported a number of new members, swelling the membership of the organization to approximately 60. When the drive is completed, it is expected that about 80 members will be included in the club. Heads of the committees in the campaign are Joseph Jansen, north side, John Coppes, south side; and Pen Prugh and William Ashe, industrial concerns and other manufacturers.

Arthur M. Schmalz, chairman of the mayor's executive committee, conducting a drive for funds for relief work here this winter, reported to the association that the work has been successful, and that in most places they have received 100 per cent cooperation. There have been several instances where business men have failed to donate, but these will slide in with the work later, Mr. Schmalz believes.

Approximately $700 was turned into the community fund by the American Legion post from proceeds of the Appleton-Kaukauna high school football game and from the legion's relief fund of last year, according to a report given by Dale Andrews, post commander. About $200 of this amount was turned in by the legion from a relief fund last year.

C. D. Towsley who was in charge of this fund last year, told the association that the money had been loaned to needy persons, and that in only one instance had a person refused to repay the money. In this manner a permanent fund can be kept.

C. J. Hansen advocated for the opening of the new Lawrence bridge a dedicatory ceremony. After hearing several suggestions, the association approved one proposing a ceremony when the bridge is opened. No definite date as to the opening of traffic over the structure has been set by engineers, but it is probable that the bridge will be opened shortly after the first of January. A suggestion to name the structure Memorial bridge is being considered by the American Legion post in honor of the dead soldiers and sailors. At the next post meeting decision on the name will be made, according to Dale Andrews.

Approve Of Clinic
Although the association approved of a health clinic in connection with the fair no plans will be made for it until later. The clinic then will have to have the approval of the city council before definite steps for holding it can be taken.

A report of existing conditions at the basket factory was submitted by Peter Renn, who is operating the plant as receiver. Renn told the association that the plant is operating on a part time basis, and employing 18 to 20 men. Need of repairs was stressed by Mr. Renn in his report. Lack of essential equipment for work also was a point in the report.

As head of the Kaukauna free employment bureau Mr. Renn told the association that unemployment is increasing daily. He said he had been placing a number of girls in household work and also several men in part time jobs, but that more calls for work are being received daily. Demand for farm help has also decreased in the past month, he pointed out.

KAUKAUNA GRID SCHEDULE STIFF

Six Conference Games Are Scheduled for High School
Next Fall

Kaukauna—Coach Paul E. Little will be placed with a difficult problem next fall when he summons his Kaukauna high school griders for practice. Losing 16 letter men from his 1931 squad, he will face one of the hardest schedules offered to a coach for the Northeastern Wisconsin conference. Six league frays were scheduled with the strongest contenders for honors in the conference. To top off the season a game will be played with Appleton high school on Armistice Day. Menasha will be missing from the schedule this year and West De Pere, which finished in third place in conference standings this year, will take its place. Sturgeon Bay, also missing from the 1931 schedule, will show against the Orange and Blacks. The season will open Sept. 24, a week earlier than this year, and the opponent will be Shawano. The schedules were mapped out on the rotating plan at a meeting in Green Bay Tuesday evening by officials of the 16 schools in the conference. Several other problems of the league were discussed and officials for the basketball games this season were selected. Plans for a music festival also were discussed. The festival will be held in Sturgeon Bay a short time before the state band tournament. Kaukauna will send its band to the state tournament if plans materialize.

The 1932 schedule includes: Shawano, Sept. 24 here; Sturgeon Bay, Oct. 1, here; Oconto, Oct. 8, there; Two Rivers, Oct. 15, there; West De Pere, here, Oct. 22; Neenah, there, Oct. 29; and Appleton here, Nov. 11. The game with Appleton may be the homecoming game.

GUERNSEY HERD IS HIGHEST IN MILK TEST ASSOCIATION

Cattle Owned by Leonard
Steinberg Produce Average of 29 Lbs. Butterfat

A herd of grade Guernsey cattle, owned by Leonard Steinberg, Hortonville, topped the Ellington Out-gamle Dairy Herd Improvement association in October, according to Milton Handesche, official tester. These animals averaged 655 pounds of milk or 23 pounds of butterfat, an average test of 4.12 per cent. This herd made this record on good alfalfa pasture and they returned a profit of $3.39 for every $1 spent for feed.

The highest producing cow in the association was a grade Guernsey owned by Alvin Handesche. The cow produced 1,649 pounds of milk or 69.4 pounds of butterfat, a test of 4.2 per cent. This cow was given alfalfa pasture with about six pounds of grain daily.

The seven highest producing cows in the association were:

Cow	Butterfat	Pounds of Milk
F. Roessler, Gr. Hol.	1153	4.4 58.8
L. Steinberg, Gr. Guer.	1367	4.5 61.5
L. Steinberg, Gr. Hol.	1368	3.2 62.5
L. Steinberg, Gr. Guer.	1212	5.5 66.6
E. Brietrick, Gr. Guer.	1178	4.3 59.6

CONTINUE WORK ON MILL WAREHOUSE

Kaukauna—Workmen of the Per-mament Construction Co. in charge of construction work at the plant

WHO'S NEW IN CONGRESS

John E. Miller

Searcy, Ark.—(AP)—John E. Miller of Searcy, new representative from Arkansas in the seventy-second congress, is a man without a hobby.

Miller says he never has had time to do anything but work. He succeeds Mrs. Pearl Pedersen, Oldfield as representative from the second district.

A lawyer and former prosecuting attorney, Miller for several years has made a study of agriculture and flood control, the two questions in which his district chiefly is interested.

His district includes territory traversed by the White river. He also represents one of the most fertile farming sections of the state. He is a democrat.

FOOTBALL PLAYERS
PLAY AT SHEBOYGAN

Kaukauna — A group of Kaukauna amateur football players left for Sheboygan Thursday morning where they will play the crack Sheboygan city team. After the game the team will be guests at a dinner to be given by the Sheboygan team, and in the evening they have been invited to attend a theatre. Reports received here state that the game is to start at 3 o'clock.

of the Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co. here were using a 'hot mix' of concrete Thursday morning on the walls of the warehouse being constructed at the paper plant. The floor of the warehouse has been constructed and workmen are constructing one of the brick walls at the eastern end of the building. About 40 men have been employed, and the work will be completed about the first of the year.

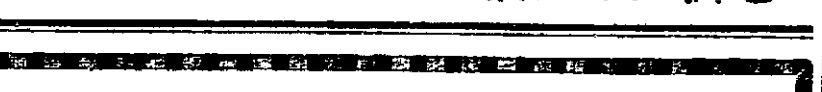

We Thank You-

For helping us to do a substantial piece of business this fall; for permitting us to show you some of the finest values in the valley; for the nice things you've said about Ferron quality and Ferron styling.

LADY with a PAST

BY HARRIET HENRY

Chapter 32

PENNY THRILLS

"SIMPLY can't understand you these days, darling," Lola said. "Do you remember how hard I used to work on your prospects?"

"Yes," said Venice. "The cocoon is metamorphosing. Is that the word?"

"It's a swell word, whether it's the right one or not. Well, I tell Jerry. He informed me the other day that you're the most intriguing looking of the batch of females that came out our year."

Venice quite gravely reflected that her appearance had in no way changed. It was curious how a little notice in some directions gleaned you notice in many. Superficial, really, and stupid. Like a flock of sheep, society. Where one found the pastures green the others followed to graze. She new no genuine satisfaction for the laurels she was attaining, only a secret scorn for the donors of her favours.

"Venice is going to the Yale-Princeton game with Roland Wainwright," Nolly told him.

"It ought to be a good game," he remarked.

"I didn't mean that," protested Nolly. "I was thinking of that handsome, dashing young man picking Venice up."

"She's too good for him."

"Why?" asked Venice defensively.

"He's a paper doll. Pretty drawn, cut from good expensive paper."

"You're always bitter about society's gods," Venice could not resist suggesting.

"And you're always bitter about your other self?"

"What other self?" asked Nolly, intensely interested in this duel of words.

"The grave, shy self Venice is doing her best to smother."

Venice, gazing at his wide, solemn eyes behind her glasses, liked him but wondered how any one could be in love with him. Like consorting with a vivisectionist. This idea wavered as they rose from the table and he subtly yet helpfully aided Nolly to find her stick and shove back her chair. She doesn't even realize he's helping her, thought Venice. He's kind and good and sincere. This last adjective came back to stab her with its import. He made her ashamed. Momentarily she admitted to herself that she battled against him when actually she agreed with him perfectly. They were leaving the dining-room. He touched her elbow. She started.

"Never mind, Venice," he said kindly. "You can be honest with me one of these days."

She blushed. He was uncanny.

Mr. and Mrs. Wainwright drove with Venice and Rollo to the game. Venice was glad. The conversation was desultory and uninspired but being "found" it saved her the mental effort of keeping the faun in his racoon coat amused. She shifted the responsibility to his parents and enjoyed looking out of the window, watching the steady stream of cars crowded with gay faces. A chrysanthemum on a shoulder here, a blue ribbon on a lapel there.

They lunched at Rollo's club and everything was crowded and rushed and exciting. Venice found herself looking here and there and everywhere for Drake Farrelly. It was silly. There was no particular reason why he should be at the game. They ran into Lola and Jerry on the street, surging along with the crowd, a pair of human souls, a pair of human souls, a pair of human souls. At the gate they bumped into Ann Duryea with a man on either arm. The crisp air had bitten color into her face that was almost purple. She looked heavy and indifferent but her escorts were eagerly bending down towards her to catch anything she might choose to utter. Venice observed as she and Rollo walked close in their wake that her words seemed few and quiet.

"Do you know Ann Duryea?" she asked.

"Yes. I met her at Lola's."

"Do you think she's attractive?"

"She has that certain something. You know that girls' been through all sorts of harrowing experiences."

"Yes," Venice smiled to herself. She and Ann Duryea were drawing benefit from the same over-rated point.

It was an exciting game. More than the actual football Venice enjoyed the human sea, wave on wave up the tiers of the bowl. All at once the whole ocean would rise and gesticulate and scream. Cries hung heavy as something tangible on the air. Down on the gridiron small figures made formations, scattered, stopped, huddled. Some one lay flat on the ground, limp and inert, and was carried out to cheers that raised his name on high.

They had dinner at Rollo's club in an effort to escape the crowd driving back. Venice felt tired and in some inexplicable way cheated. She had so eagerly hoped to see Drake Farrelly. The envious eyes of the girls she knew, taking her in on Rollo's arm, were scant consolation for the genuine boredom she suffered with him.

Before her own front door he attempted to kiss her. She felt cool and impartial and not as if she was a part of the scene at all.

"Please," she protested, drawing back against the door.

"Don't be silly, Venice. I think you're the most wonderful girl I've ever known."

"I hate penny thrills."

"Why should it be a penny thrill? It's worth mints to me."

"Oh, no," she laughed and turned to unlock the door.

He stopped her hand that turned the key.

"Are you one of these prudess?" he demanded irritably.

"I don't know what I am," she answered quite honestly. She was a bit bothered about what she should do. She must have him in attendance but she wasn't going to hold out imitation bait. She had succeeded in wresting her hand loose from his and had opened the door. She stepped inside holding it wide.

"It's been a perfect day, Rollo. Thank you ever so much. Next time come to dinner with me and we'll try to make me out."

He laughed suddenly.

"You're a damn sight too intricate for me," he said and the door quiet step towards her. She was in his arms and his mouth was against her. She did not struggle, remained cool and limp and indifferent. When he let her go his face was faintly chagrined.

"It was hardly worth even a penny. I'm sorry you did that Rollo."

"I'm sorry too," he said surprisingly. "No one enjoys a chilled dish."

"And no one enjoys being referred to as something to eat," she retorted. She gently closed the door.

Instead of leaving him the injured one, she had given him the impression that he had hurt her.

She yawned innumerable times as she undressed for bed and was too tired and sleepy to bother to think about Roland Wainwright. She didn't even stop to wonder whether she had been a diplomat or an unpolitic with him.

A few days later she went to see Nolly and tell her all about the game. Her description was glowing and exciting. It held all the joyous elements she would have liked it to hold, none of which she had actually been able to see. Afterwards she waited here across the stairs she was late afternoon and the Park was a rich dark blue. Trees chilly nude of their summer foliage were sharply silhouetted against the waning daylight and in the distance lights along Fifth Avenue were strangely caught in the branches. Odd the truck perspective can play. Belated nurses hurried home with their perambulators and indifferent policemen with faces like healthy apples swung their tiles and sauntered along occasional walks.

Ahead of her for at least a quarter of a mile, a young man hurried who gradually attracted her interest, first with his attentions to a squirrel, later with a silhouette for a small boy who had fallen down and finally because of his profile that she glimpsed. It was Drake Farrelly.

She felt sure. She broke into a little run until she was near enough to fear that he would hear her hurrying footsteps. Then she walked as quietly and as quickly as she could. Her heart was thumping. She felt a fool and very excited.

(Copyright, Harriet Henry.)

Is it Drake? Venice has waited months to see him. She finds out tomorrow.

RESUBMIT DRY ISSUE, RASKOB PLEA TO PARTY

Wants Democrats to Take Stand on Question, Not on Prohibition

Washington—(AP)—John J. Raskob wants the Democratic party to endorse resubmission of the eighteenth amendment to the people, but not to take a stand for or against prohibition.

Thus the chairman of the party's national committee clarified his position Tuesday, as criticism kept mounting against his insistence on thrusting the wet-dry question forward.

"I strongly feel," he said in an answer to a newspaper editorial, "the party should take neither the wet nor the dry side of this highly controversial question, but that its platform should definitely commit the democratic members of congress to vote in favor of some resolution which will give the people themselves opportunity to vote on the question as to whether they wish the eighteenth amendment retained, repealed or modified."

He challenged also the assertion that Governor Roosevelt opposed his selection as chairman in 1928. Alfred E. Smith, he said, had assured him of the contrary. Yet his statement accentuated the apparent differences between Roosevelt and Smith.

Raskob has been working since last spring to obtain a platform declaration on prohibition from the next Democratic national convention. In March he thrust before the national committee a plan for "home rule" or federally-aided state liquor control. Friends of Roosevelt's nomination for president were among the most active in blocking a vote on the plan. A few days ago Raskob sent a prohibition questionnaire to the 38,000 odd cash contributors to the 1928 campaign, accompanying it with a letter urging his wet views.

The results of this poll he intends to place before the national committee, which meets in January to select time and place for the convention.

Latest of his critics was Senator Connally, Democrat, Texas, who labelled Raskob's move one "calculated to disrupt and divide the party's strength instead of promoting its success."

He joined Senator Robinson of Arkansas, in asserting the 1925 campaign should be waged on economic issues, and told the party chairman he should be wielding the party into a militant force instead of promoting strife to belaud the otherwise brilliant prospects."

EXHIBIT PROJECTS OF VOCATIONAL SCHOOL

An exhibit of projects constructed by students in the woodworking and machine shop departments of Appleton vocational school is now on display in the windows of the Schleifer Hardware store. The exhibit consists of drill presses, screw-lacks, clocks, tables and other machinery and furniture turned out by students of W. Ray Challoner and James Chadak.

FOUNDATION KEEPS CONTROL OF PROCESS

Wins Decision in Madison
Court Against Standard
Brands, Inc.

Madison—(AP)—Complete control of the irradiation process invented by Dr. Harry Steenbock of the University of Wisconsin was assured the Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation under a decision made by Circuit Judge A. G. Zimmerman here Wednesday.

Standard Brands, Inc., successor to the Fleischmann Co., manufacturers of yeast products, had challenged the right of the foundation to restrict the sale of yeast products irradiated under the Steenbock process.

The plaintiff contended that under its contract with the foundation it could sell irradiated yeast to food manufacturers. Judge Zimmerman ruled that the company could sell only to food manufacturers who were licensed by the foundation.

Two methods of treating food under the Steenbock process are practicable. One treats food directly by ultra-violet rays. The other irradiates yeast which in turn delivers the benefits of irradiation to other foods by assimilation. The foundation contended that it would lose about half the benefits of the invention if it could not retain control over the latter method.

Start Collection Of Discarded Clothing For Poor Of Appleton

that too for the poor. If the coupon printed on page 4 of this paper is filled out and mailed to Mrs. J. H. Raskob, a man of the clothes will be taken to the Northern Semanatic work- room.

There are no two sides to this question. Clothing is needed badly in many parts of Appleton. Certainly, you have at least one old suit with plenty of service (and not much style) left in it. Fine. That's the suit you want to give away. But why not combine generosity with common sense? Take advantage of the offer you've heard so much about. To co-operate with the Appleton Welfare officers, we have extended it for a few days more. Remember—
